

Hanuman Prasad v. State of U.P. — Clause 6.8(b) notice must fix a hearing date

High Court of Judicature at Allahabad · Division Bench · 6 April 2016 · Writ - C No. 13875 of 2016 · Writ allowed; recovery citation quashed; reasoned final assessment directed.

HEADNOTE

Challenging a recovery citation after a theft-related provisional assessment of Rs.5,19,603, the Division Bench held that a Clause 6.8(b) notice which neither specified a date of hearing nor disclosed the basis of the demand denied adequate opportunity. The writ was allowed, the citation dated 8 March 2016 quashed, and a reasoned final assessment directed within six weeks after considering the petitioner's objections, following Ashok Kumar v. State of U.P.

FACTUAL SUMMARY

Hanuman Prasad challenged a recovery citation dated 8 March 2016 for Rs.5,19,603. After an interim stay of coercive action, the licensee's counsel served a copy of the provisional assessment. The petitioner said he had never received that notice, could not object, and the licensee treated the assessment as final. He invoked Clause 6.8(b)(1) of the U.P. Electricity Supply Code, 2005, arguing that the notice itself had to fix a date of hearing.

REUSABLE CONSTRUCTIONS

1. Clause 6.8(b) requires the provisional assessment notice itself to fix a date of hearing; a notice that omits that date is not in accordance with law and denies the consumer adequate opportunity. ¶ 1
2. A provisional assessment notice must disclose the basis of the assessed sum; a recovery citation issued on a notice that does neither is liable to be quashed, with a reasoned final assessment to follow after objections. ¶ 1
