

M/S Amba Steels (A Unit Of K.K.Steel Products Ltd.) v. State of U.P. And Others

Allahabad High Court · Single Judge · 4 April 2012 · Writ - C No. 16618 of 2012 · Writ petition partly allowed; appellate order dated 14.03.2012 set aside and Appeal No. 6 of 2010-11 remanded for a reasoned decision on merits within one month; no costs

HEADNOTE

An assessment made on an allegation of theft of electricity is referable to Section 126 of the Electricity Act, 2003; it is not an assessment under Section 135, and an appeal under Section 127 therefore lies. Paragraphs 8.1 to 8.3 of the U.P. Electricity Supply Code, 2005 may prescribe the theft-assessment procedure (and paragraph 6.8 the procedure for other unauthorised use), but that does not exclude the statutory appeal. An Appellate Authority misdirects itself by rejecting the appeal on the ground that a theft assessment was made under Section 135 and is therefore not maintainable. Following Chairman, West Bengal State Electricity Board v. Syed Mukbul Hossain, Ashok Kumar, Paliwal Alloys and Paschimanchal Vidyut Vitran Nigam Ltd. v. Appellate Authority, the order dated 14.03.2012 rejecting Appeal No. 6 of 2010-11 is set aside and the appeal is remanded for a speaking decision on merits within one month. The Court did not decide the correctness of the assessment.

FACTUAL SUMMARY

M/s Amba Steels, a unit of K.K. Steel Products Ltd., challenged an order dated 14 March 2012 of the Appellate Authority comprising the Commissioner, Saharanpur Division, Saharanpur and the Superintending Engineer, Paschimanchal Vidyut Vitran Nigam Limited, Meerut. That authority had rejected the company's Appeal No. 6 of 2010-11 solely on the ground that the assessment had been made under Section 135 of the Electricity Act, 2003, so no appeal under Section 127 was maintainable. Senior counsel for the distribution company stated that a pure question of law on maintainability of an appeal against a theft assessment had been raised, declined to file a counter-affidavit, and agreed that the writ be heard and decided at that stage. The company contended that the Act provides for assessment only under Section 126, that theft assessment follows paragraphs 8.1 to 8.3 of the U.P. Electricity Supply Code, 2005 (and other unauthorised use, paragraph 6.8), and that in both situations an appeal lies under Section 127.

REUSABLE CONSTRUCTIONS

1. An assessment made on an allegation of theft of electricity is referable to Section 126 of the Electricity Act, 2003, not Section 135. ¶ 6, 9
2. Paragraphs 8.1 to 8.3 of the U.P. Electricity Supply Code, 2005 may supply the procedure for a theft assessment, but that does not exclude an appeal under Section 127. ¶ 9
3. An Appellate Authority misdirects itself by rejecting a Section 127 appeal on the ground that a theft assessment was made under Section 135 and is therefore not maintainable. ¶ 9-10
4. The scheme of the 2003 Act does not exclude a Section 126 assessment in theft cases; the third proviso to Section 135(1A) (restoration on deposit of the assessed amount) itself contemplates such an assessment, and the Section 127 appellate authority's power is co-extensive with that of the assessing officer. ¶ 8-9

A theft-based financial assessment is a Section 126 assessment

QUESTION

Is an assessment made on an allegation of theft of electricity an assessment under Section 135, or is it referable to Section 126?

HOLDING

It is referable to Section 126. The Supreme Court in Chairman, West Bengal State Electricity Board and this Court in Ashok Kumar and Paliwal Alloys have held that assessment on account of theft, though to some extent covered by Section 135, is made under Section 126. The scheme of the 2003 Act, fortified by the third proviso to Section 135(1A), does not exclude a Section 126 assessment in theft cases. ¶ 6-9

Section 127 appeal lies against a theft assessment; rejection as a Section 135 order is a misdirection

QUESTION

May an Appellate Authority reject a Section 127 appeal as not maintainable on the ground that the assessment, being theft-based, was made under Section 135?

HOLDING

No. Because the assessment is referable to Section 126, an appeal under Section 127 lies. The Appellate Authority (Commissioner, Saharanpur Division and Superintending Engineer, PVVNL, Meerut) misdirected itself in rejecting Appeal No. 6 of 2010-11 by stating that the assessment was under Section 135 and therefore no appeal lay. The impugned order dated 14.03.2012 is set aside and the appeal is remanded for a reasoned decision on merits within one month after opportunity to all concerned. ¶ 9-10

INTERPLAY · UP-2005::8.1

Code theft procedure does not oust the Section 127 appeal

QUESTION

Does the applicability of paragraphs 8.1 to 8.3 of the Supply Code, 2005 to a theft assessment exclude the appeal under Section 127?

HOLDING

No. Though under the Code, 2005 the procedure prescribed in paragraphs 8.1 to 8.3 may apply in a theft matter (and paragraph 6.8 in other matters), that would not exclude the appeal under Section 127, because the assessment remains referable to Section 126. The appellate authority may decide, on the material, whether the assessment was correctly made on a theft footing under paragraph 8.1 or as unauthorised use under paragraph 6.8. ¶ 8-9

FLAG The Court referred to 'Para 8.1 to 8.3'; keyed to Clause 8.1 as the catalog lead. Paragraph 6.8 is discussed only as the counterpart procedure for non-theft unauthorised use.

Expressly left to the Appellate Authority on remand, to be decided by a reasoned and speaking order within one month after opportunity to all concerned. ¶ 10

NOT DECIDED — WHETHER THE FACTS WERE THEFT UNDER PARAGRAPHS 8.1 TO 8.3 OR OTHER UNAUTHORISED USE UNDER PARAGRAPH 6.8

The Court adopted the proposition that the appellate authority may decide that question; it did not decide it on these facts. ¶ 8-10
